Pathway course with internship

Gain work experience before starting your degree

› kaplanpathways.com/internship

If you'd like to boost your employability with valuable work experience before your degree, you can add an online internship to your pathway course. This integrated work placement gives you a chance to make practical use of your English, and develop important skills that will be useful in any kind of future career. It's a fantastic way to enhance your CV!

What is an online internship?

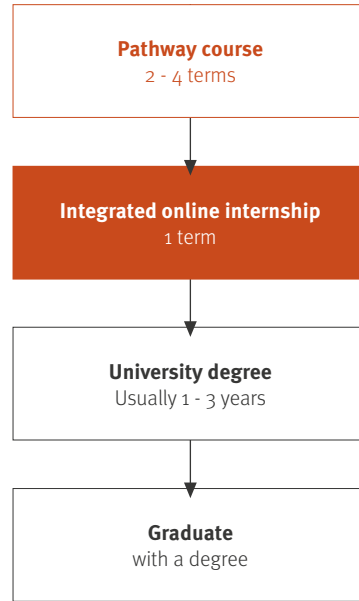

When you choose a pathway course, you'll usually have the option to add a virtual internship. This is an integrated programme, and will consist of your course's planned academic study, followed by a built-in online internship taken remotely, from your college in the UK.

Your placement will be organised by Virtual Internships, one of Europe's top EdTech companies. They will pair you with an internship opportunity that suits you, with 18 different career fields available.

Features of your virtual internship will include:

- 2 one-to-one coaching workshops with a specialist career adviser
- 10-12 of hours coaching materials from award-winning online professional development hub CareerBridge
- working on your placement for 15-30 hours per week
- specialist support from your college and Virtual Internships throughout your work placement
- peer support from other students at your college taking an internship

The online internship is available on many of our UK undergraduate and postgraduate pathway courses, and for a wide range of English language levels.

Why take an online internship?

Gain professional experience and key employability skills that look great on your CV.
