

Admission for International students

Study a bachelor's in education in New York City

Undergraduate pathway program leads to Pace
University's School of Education

Undergraduate Global Pathways—School of Education track

This program can help you to improve your English language, academic grades, and study skills, so you can progress to a bachelor's degree at the School of Education. You will also earn credits that transfer to your degree to ensure you graduate on time. If you already meet all the entry requirements for the degree, you can apply for direct admission.

Progression degrees

The Undergraduate Global Pathways program leads to one of the following bachelor's degrees and the New York State Initial Teaching Certificate for the level you plan to teach.

Early Childhood Education, BS

Learn to support young children from birth to grade 2.

Early Childhood and Childhood Education, BS

Learn to support young learners from birth through grade 6.

Childhood Education, BS

For teaching grades 1-6. Choose one of the following concentrations: biology*, English, history, mathematics*, or Spanish.

Adolescent Education, BS

For teaching middle and high school students (grades 7-12) in one of the following subjects: biology*, chemistry, English, history, mathematics*, or Spanish.

Combined bachelor's and master's options

In this 5 year program, Adolescent Education, BS or Early Childhood and Childhood Education, BS can be combined with Special Education, MSEd or Literacy, MSEd.

* Graduates of these programs are eligible for the 24-month STEM extension to Optional Practical Training (OPT) after graduation.

Key facts

Routes to education bachelor's degrees	Global Pathways program	Direct admission to a degree
Study plan	1-3 semesters (4-12 months) depending on English level, before your degree	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• 4 years for first-year admission• 2 or 3 years for transfer admission
Minimum grade in previous study	2.0 GPA or equivalent	2.5 GPA or equivalent
Minimum TOEFL (or equivalent) requirement	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• TOEFL 69 for 1-semester program• TOEFL 62 for 2-semester program• TOEFL 55 for 3-semester program If your English level is lower, you can first join Pace's Intensive English Program	TOEFL 80
Start dates	September, January, May	September, January

Why choose Pace University's School of Education?

- Top 15% of Best Education Schools in the USA (College Factual 2023)
- 98% of graduates from the Class of 2022 are employed or continuing their education
- As a Pace School of Education student, you'll start your classroom teaching experience almost a year earlier than students at other schools
- Access to cutting-edge teaching avatar technology that complements in-person learning
- Accredited by CAEP (Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation)

Apply through Kaplan: kaplanpathways.com/pace-apply

For information regarding fees, entry requirements and deadlines please visit: kaplanpathways.com/pace-degrees